GC—a Goshen collage of people
shifting, changing, coming and going.
Our faces speak
of an odyssey woven of
now decisions,
moments of liberation,
sighs of had it-ness,
carefree frivolity,
inward probings.
All of us, interpreters of life.

We wondered
what would make this year.
On election day we went fishing, trying to ignore the political gloom
that stifled the outside world and crept into our little community.
We read the headlines—
Nixon, Columbia riots, the Czechoslovakian invasion.
Apathy froze us inside ourselves.
The silent majority reigned.

Frustration pushed against our walls of inhibition.
We mobbed the dorms.
We rocked and souled.
And we found that our moods changed
from disillusionment
to laughter and absurdity
to love and peace
and back and forth
up and down.
From each other we learned
new tensions and new harmonies, sensing that the people of this year were a part of our search for truth—
as it were.

Mary K. Oyer, Dwight V. Yoder, Harold Good, Wilma Good, Paul Mininger, Andrew Cordier, Carl Kreider, Paul Lederach, Ernest E. Miller.

75 years old and appearing a bit bewildered—Goshen College sporting a new sumptuous library
and an assortment of new and old hang-ups.
Given alternatives:
Dr. Andrew Cordier,
representing the old order;
Bonpane, antithesis to same.
New programs and dead wood.
The perennial “factions” seeking to find comfortable relations with one another:
administration, constituency, faculty,
staff, students (alphabetical order).
Finding hope in the fact that we have, after all, lasted this long.

Homecoming 68 featured a new dimension. Controversy ranted around the Queen symbol. Symptoms of a repressed male/female opposition showed up on the opinion board. Debate was crowded out by the festivities: dorm-display witticisms (?), workshops with Kliewer and the Bubalos, the big game and bonfire, and the first GC Homecoming Hosting Team.

The opposite sex remained an enigma.

Homecoming Court: Kathy Newcomer, Ruth Yoder, Queen Trinda Hirshey, Justine Clemmer.

Study Service Trimester
launched us into Nicaragua,
Costa Rica, Guadeloupe,
Honduras, Jamaica.
From maple leaves
to palm leaves,
the first SST abroad:
GC campus complete with crowded markets, beaches,
volcanoes.

We were a core group
facing a new world together,
and slowly
becoming part of that world.
We stumbled into a new language and we found a brother named Ramón and Pierre.

Care Nursery.

Very un-GC these Latins,
No rush, no hang-ups.
They had a preposterous habit
of smiling and saying hello.
We were abashed.
But their smiles
led to strange discoveries.
History is people . . . now:
children's hospitals, fiestas,
private tutoring.
The old words—study, lectures—
shed their pressured skins.
We felt the throb
of the world-wide tribe.
Jamaican dance confronted handbook rules.

And we returned to G.C. . . .
Cultural shock!

Interaction of mind with matter,
student with prof.
Schedules, bells, books.
All-nighters.
Papers.
Feeling the click of insight.
Not feeling it.
Hanging in there.
What we're here for.

Elaine Yoder and Marilyn Steiner

The new trimester calendar had its uncomfortable consequences.
Academic pressure.
For example: less time,
same work expectation.
“Scruunnch” goes the student.
Senate action brought “mercy” from faculty.
Some, feeling cooped up by academia,
flew,
charging “irrelevancy”
and “lack of meaning.”
The intellectual drop-out.

“I have moved from the house of the scholars and I have banged the door behind me. My soul sat hungry at their table too long . . .”

—Nietzsche

Discontent became institutionalized.
General Education Committee and Seminar.
Standards Study Committee, Anabaptist Values
and Interpersonal Relations Seminars.
Limited fruition in limited "pass-fail."
Agitation for a peace studies division.

A redundancy of committees,
but few solutions.

The world of childhood—
Kindergarten became a lab experience for Psych Foundations and Child Development classes.
Education moved from instruction to discovery.
We played their games—
exploring with them,
tactfully guiding.
Trying to keep up
with their creative orneriness.
Small minds think big.
We gladly learned from them.

Jane Miller and Ralph Fireoved

Comp and World Lit consciously strove to develop creative response to—and existential involvement with—great literature.

Input: Dostoevsky, Faulkner, Albee.

Output: varied—from modest skits to turning the Ad Building into Dante's Inferno.

Continuing the teaching fellow—an upperclassman working with small groups of frosh underlings.

"Hits and misses."

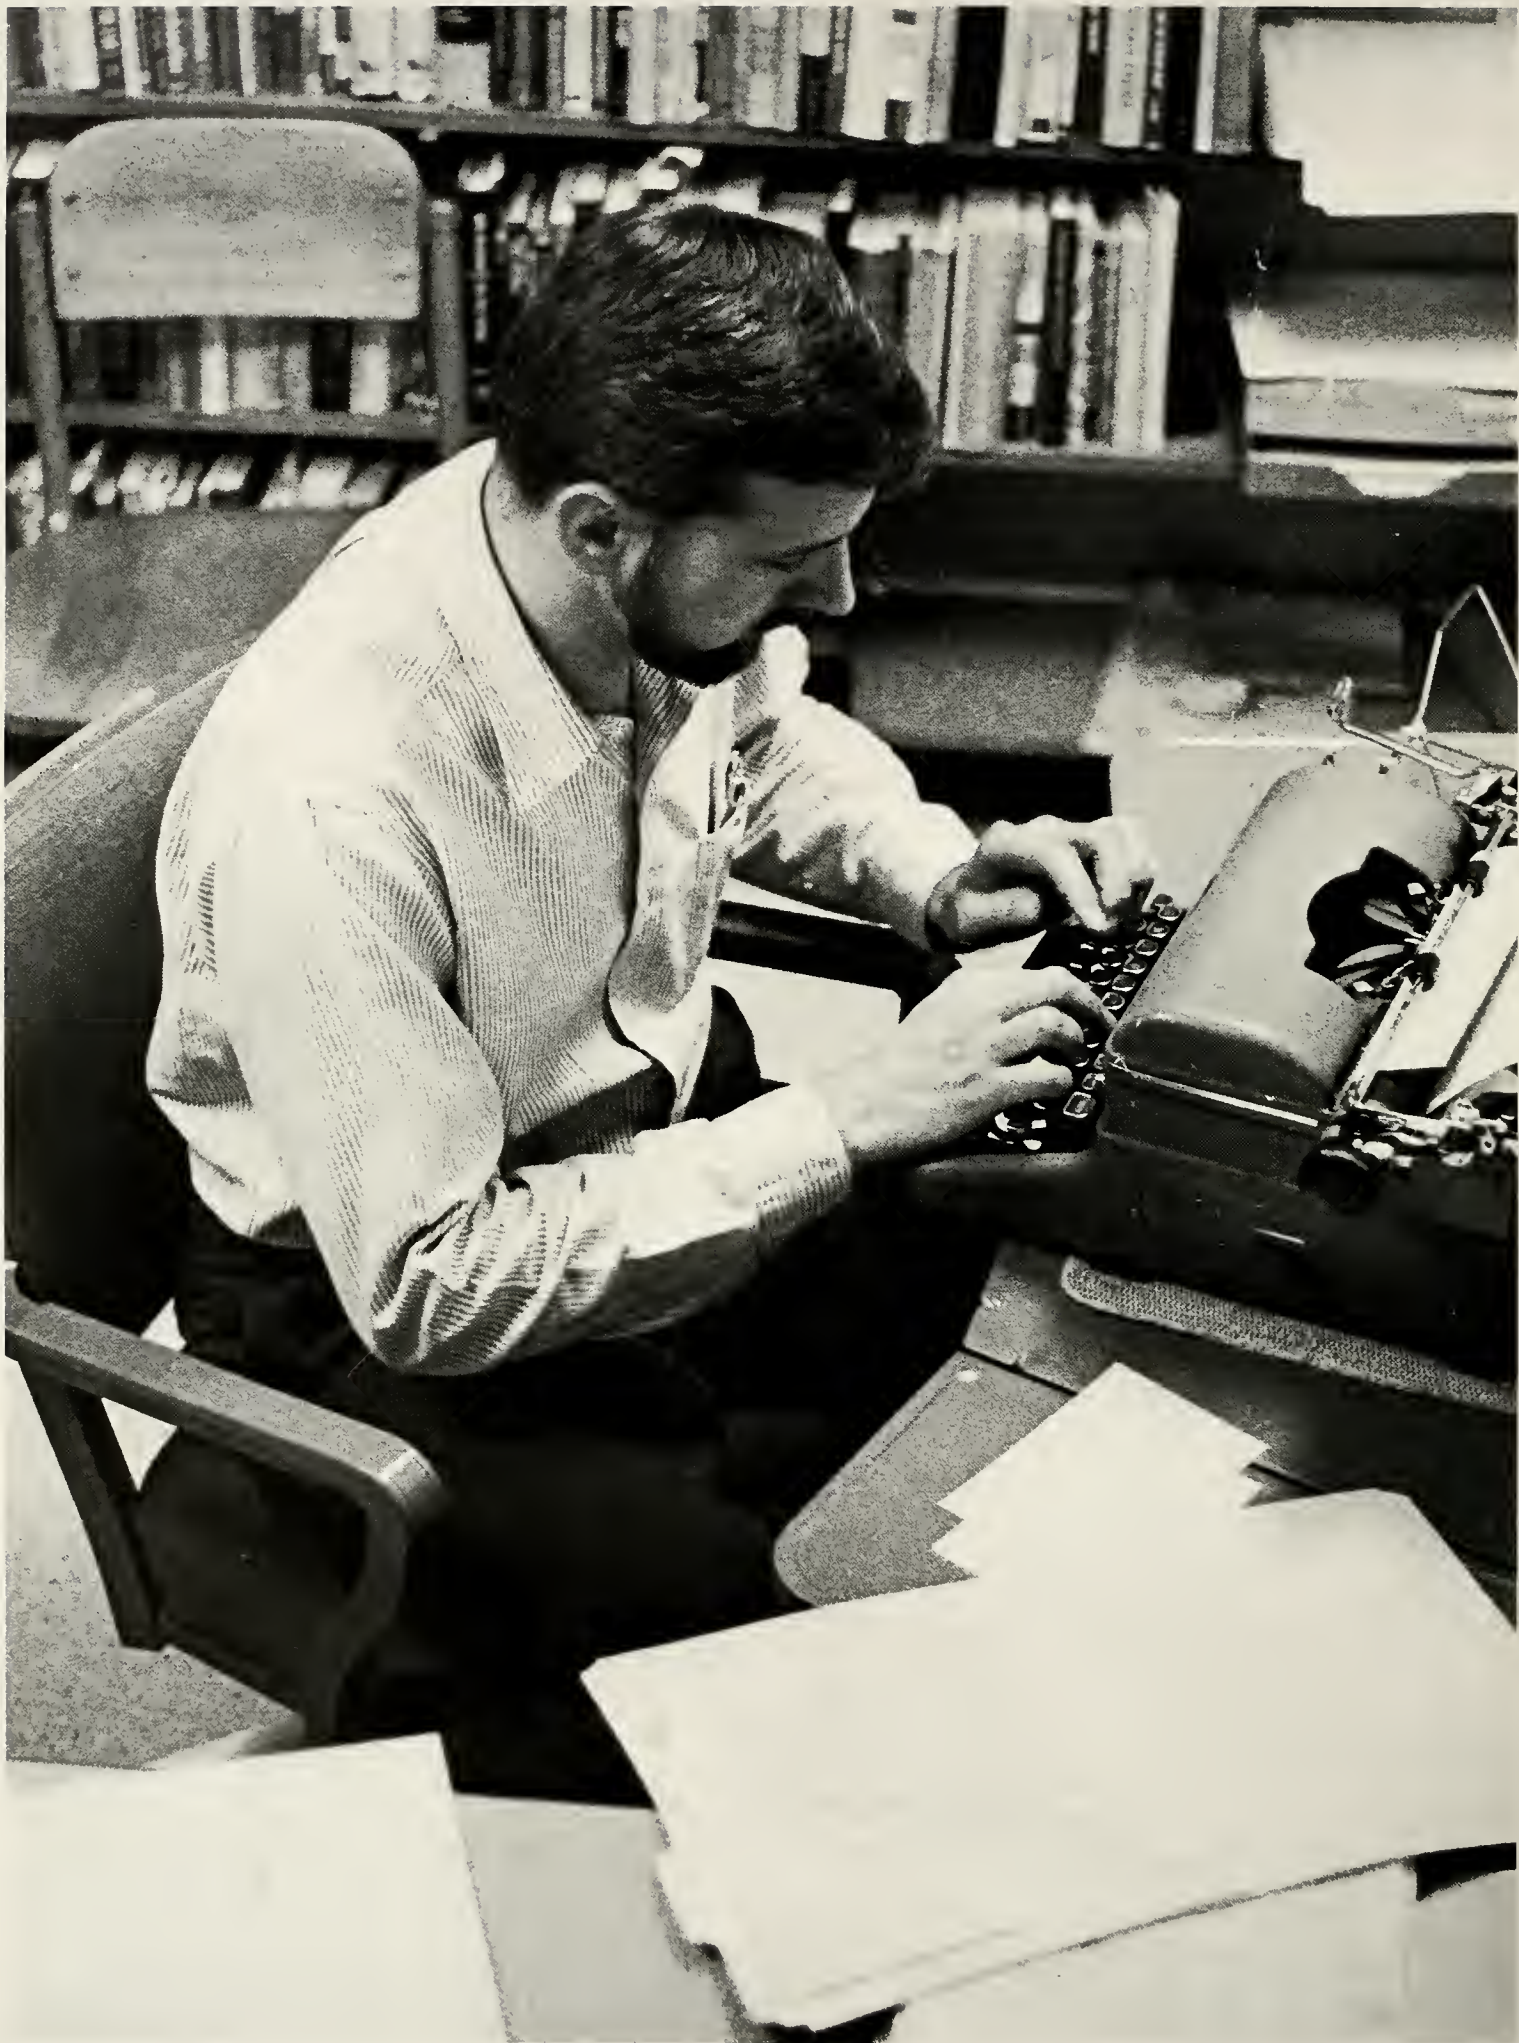

Groping, hoping, moping.

John Fisher and Sue Clemmer

CWL: Dante's Inferno

Besides grading papers
and thinking up tests,
profs sometimes get ingenious ideas
which turn into major inventions.
Like Dr. Buschert's goniometer or, in other words,
double source double crystal X-ray spectrometer.
And this year JRB made it
on his doctorate.
Long hours of analyzing Supreme Court decisions resulted in a thesis on *Religion in the First Amendment:
A Social Theory Approach to Constitutional Interpretation.*

The questioning mind of the learner . . .
Even profs have not arrived.
When it comes to sweating the deadlines,
we're all in the same bag.

The Goshen seminarian.
Traveling to Elkhart twice per week.

Confronted with:
the new model
of Seminary education,
the "home" church,
the "role" of the pastor,
the Anabaptist kingdom,
the contemplated move
to Elkhart.

Involved in:
reading more books
than possible,
doing field work,
working closely with
profs,
searching through
K-groups.

Convo
is 9:00 on the dot, hurry
with our hol(e)y cards.
A 20-minute slot
in our busy schedules.
We complain,
but we also listen
and remember,
and discuss at supper.
Together we sing,
then mob the mailboxes.
Sometimes yawning,
sometimes provoked,
sometimes inspired.

Violence Week:
Sociodrama, Sgt. Musgrave's Dance,
John Howard Yoder, Dr. Funk.
We listened to Father Bonpane
tell about the Guatemalan Guerilleros de Paz:
"Violence is in the fact that the average man is in rags . . .
We are the most hypocritical of people
if we simply say we are non-violent in a vacuum . . . There is something going on outside . . . We're nice and clean and we say, 'Gee, there's something very terrible going on outside and we'll stay right here'. . .
Life is a series of choices. We can't get preconceived notions while living here in a vacuum and say we know the Christian role. What is the role in life? It is to be incarnate, to enter into hope, the desires to the anxieties of the people up to the ultimate consequences. Jesus did this—and took the final test . . .
The driving force of the revolutionary is love."

Music: escape from/into ourselves, confrontation with something better,
a means of ordering the jumble.
Proof that men can do something beautiful—us even.
Beauty of the spirit:
St. Matthew's Passion.
Beauty of the body:
the dance.

Expressing the otherwise inexpressible.
It is all, somehow, a form of singing.

Art is process as well as result.
We prod
our routine-numbed sensitivities into response.
Surprising ourselves,
spriteful creative spirits
leap through the bars of their prison.
Learning to feel.

Sports—
exorcising our demons
through sweat and shouts and mock combat . . .
Mass catharsis.
If we're athletes,
solitary hours of practice and pre-game sickness. Pride in muscle and body.
Sprained ankles, shin splints, black eyes become combat medals.

The crowd shares
our triumphs and defeats.
They feel our injuries
and disappointments.
We entertain them,
but the pressure is ours.
We run for ourselves.
From our own pride
we sweat, bleed, cough and worry ourselves into winning,
since we can't allow ourselves
to do anything less.

Time out:
OK we're down 49—40
they're going through the zone switch to man-to-man
you big guys cut off the low post get tough on the defensive board
screen out and rebound
screen out and rebound
get the fast break going make sure of the outlet pass get the ball to Cross and go let's go rebound defense get that break going but control it control the break control the game control . . .

For all of us:
two tests tomorrow and
an overdue term paper,
but there's a game tonite.
Fine time to purge the spirit, scapegoat the refs, shout
pressures and frustrations into oblivion.

For the non-athletes among us
sports quench the need to recreate.

Kinooks dig out the skates,
sticks, and a puck.

Normals jog, play ping-pong and pool, and find niches on the intramural rosters.

Simply enjoying the bod.

Look up, look down,
then sit, and look around,
watch the record spinning
and listen to the sound:

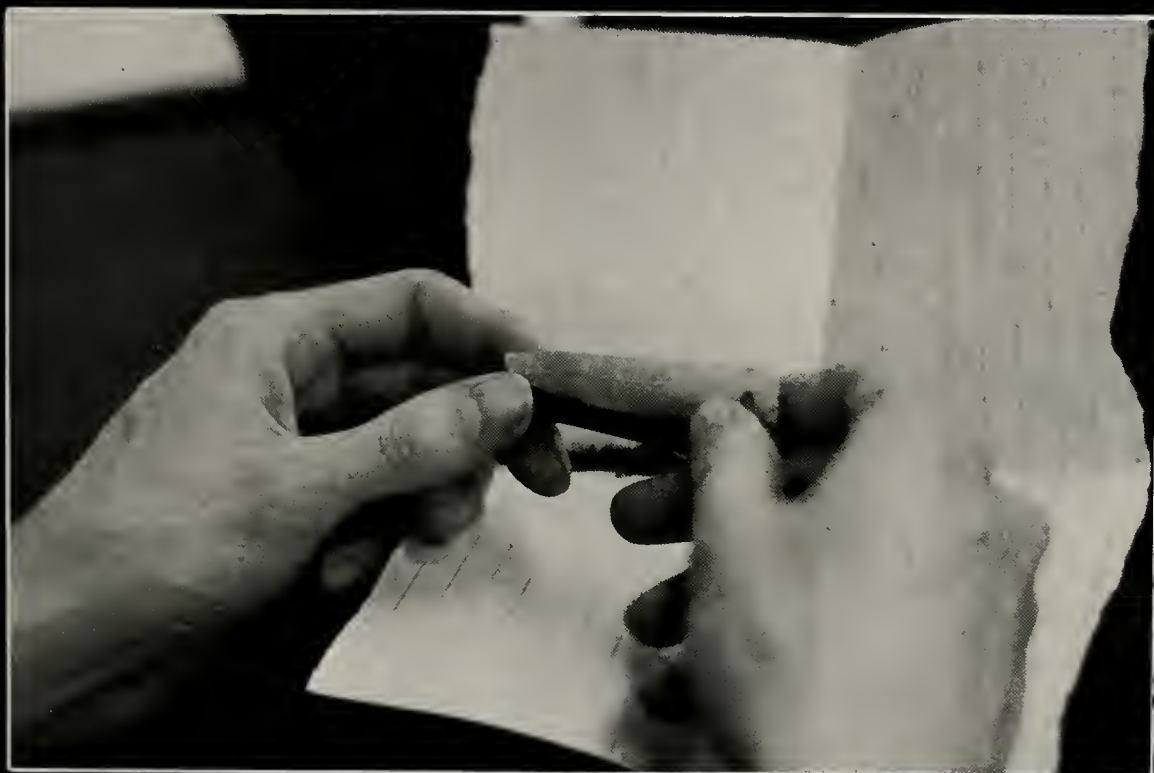

"Here we are in college,
to learn from all its Knowledge,
as the power of the past leads us down the last long corridor
of the American Scheme."

Suddenly we turn to the person
on our left in Psych class and venture to ask,
"Do you ever dream? No?
Well, I do."

Running from
and looking for.

"To be brief, we want release."

“ . . . I here announce Student Demand No. 271
goshen college just one penguin please!

is that clear?”

GCCG felt the pulse of student unrest, probed frustrating dilemmas.
What are GC-ites?—We sought a new image:
updating standards, questioning the grading system,
attempting to relieve academic pressure.
We wanted to humanize the system:
dorm visitation hassel/fizzle,
Human Rights Commission,
Experiment in Living.
We began . . . just began, to trust one another.

What does it mean to be both a Christian and an American?
Some saw a conflict, others
didn't.
The debate focused for a time
around the flag.
Old Glory or Old Gory?
We talked, even managed
a little reconciliation.

In the din of the dormitories,
the snack shop, small parties,
we unwind and refuel.
We worry about tomorrow,
but we laugh and love today.
We flop down flat
on "Please let me grow" grass, and touching fingers, we pass around a glass of clean fountain water,
praying for sun, and spring,
and late hours.

Wally Shellenberger came and told us about Biafra:
the ugliness of starvation and killing and fear.
The complex and frustrating story of the Nigerian civil war.
We asked, to Wally's surprise,
"What can we do?"
And we meant it.
Some of us wanted to go back with him.
We kicked and we prodded relief organizations.
They tried, but we were disappointed.
We were educated
but useless.

We raised some money to help:
we fasted, donated, had a benefit concert.
But the need was there and we were here.

We held a commissioning service
with Wally and Evie;
we were helping send them back.
They returned to their hospital

We went back to books and lectures.

Peace Society brought us Frank Epp and John Ferguson and developed the theme of "The Christian in Revolution."

Culmination in Intercollegiate Peace Fellowship:

Talk about revolution among D.C.'s unperturbed stone buildings.

We listened to Laird and Fullbright clash over the proposed ABM system—mixed amusement and fright.

Lowenstein, Augsburg, Kraus, SDSer—we digested the spectrum.

Goshen College in 1909: North Hall, Administration Building, Kulp Hall

The Apocalypse!
 North Hall in flames!
 Apropos to the ending
 of an explosive year.
 Run like the blazes to watch.
 Everyone is there reminiscing and eulogizing
 GC's oldest building.
 Sort of a campus landmark.
 Built in 1903,
 surrounded by wheat shocks,
 it originally stood
 just east of the Ad Building.
 During its lifetime
 it housed faculty families
 and married students,
 class lectures and student pranks,
 men and mice.
 We remembered it for Spouter:
 coffee house sings, checkers, the paint room.
 North Hall—old and quaint and rambling.
 They were going to tear it down this summer.
 But we were glad it went spontaneously.

“And again they said Alleluia.
 And her smoke rose up for ever
 and ever.”

—Revelation 19:3

After four years
we stand smothered in black shrouds,
tassles tickling,
bleating for our sheepskins.
The denouement seems rather absurd.
But we have an ambiguous understanding that Goshen has changed, created, metamorpholated us.
The relevant question now seems to be:
where do we go from here?

EVERYWHERE?

... well, almost!

With thirty-four manufacturing plants in fifteen countries it almost seems that Miles is everywhere. Miles products are found in medicine cabinets throughout the world, and are in constant use in hospitals, clinics, research and clinical laboratories. In interesting contrast, Miles has now moved into the kitchen with S.O.S. soap pads and S.O.ettes—and in addition, supplies corn syrups, citric acid, food colorants, special cultures and enzymes for the development and processing of flavorful foods. Yesterday, Miles was Elkhart, Indiana. Today, Miles is global. Tomorrow—? One thing for sure—Indiana will still be home. And, we're glad!
